the lady; it was no her affections in a plain full light? Love me! They, it must be requested. I hear how I am censured: they say I will love myself proudly if I perceive the love come from her; they say, too, that she will rather die than give any sign of affection. I did never think to marry, I must not seem proud. Happy are they that have their distractions and can put them to mending. They say the lady is fair; 'tis a truth, I can see that: she is virtuous, 'tis so, I cannot reproach it; and wise too for loving me. By my troth, it is no advantage to her wit; nor do grant argument of her folly, for I will be horribly in love with her. To many chance have some odd quirks and remnants of wit broken on me because I have railed so long against marriage; but doth not the appetite alter? A man loves the meat in his youth that he cannot endure in his age; Shall quirks, and sentences, and these paper bullets of the brain use a man from the quarrel of his humor? No, the world must be peopled. If you I said I would die a bachelor, I should like to tell you, were you a fair lady. I will not say I am not in love with her. Fairer than those that I have seen, and she takes pains to please me, if it has been principal in my choice, I will place them in the marriage. You, just as you are, are a good one.

what you do. how you dress.
the way you love someone,
and how you talk. your smile and your personality. what you believe in, and all your dreams.
the way you drink your tea.
how you decorate your home.
or party. your grocery list. the food you make. how your writing looks. and the way you feel.

life is art.
